Drowned While Trying to Escape From Forest Fires.

Horrible Havoc of the Flames in Northern Wisconsin.

NEARLY ALL THE TRAINS ON THE CENTRAL RAILWAY HELD UP.

Lumber Camps in Ashes and the People Left Homeless—The Condition in the Burned-Over Section Very Serious—Fires Still Raging—Only Heavy Rainfall Will Check the Spreading Flames.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 28.—Twenty persons are reported drowned in the lake at Phillips in endeavoring to escape being burned to death by forest fires.

The reports of forest and other fires in Northern Wisconsin show a serious condition of affairs, but nearly all the reports spoke encouragingly of the promise of heavy rains during the day at various points, which would have a most decided effect on the fires and stop their further progress.

Agents on the line of the St. Paul road report that there have been no fires on the Wisconsin Valley division. Fires of greater or less extent are running between Channing and Paul, Mich., on the Lake Superior division. Lumber camps on the Gibson and the Toledos spur of the road, four miles west of Channing, are reported destroyed, and fires are running rapidly through the woods in that part of the country.

All trains on the Wisconsin Central road in that section of country where the fire is raging to the greatest extent are held up at various points or are piking their way through the burned-over sections slowly and with frequent stops. Every effort is being made by General Manager Whitcomb to get to the towns and lumber camps where fire has cleared out nearly everything, in order to carry supplies to the people left homeless and without, in many cases, anything to eat or wear, the main object of the company at present being to relieve the destitute people rather than to get passengers, though they run regular trains. The condition of affairs at Phillips is reported by agents of the central to be very bad, and the people of the place are in need of immediate relief in the way of food and clothing and material with which to construct temporary homes. The reports seem to indicate that the town is practically wiped out of existence. It was a place of about 3,000 people.

Gov. Peck, who is in the city to-day, has been asked to send tents to Phillips to shelter the homeless women and children and he will comply with the request at once.

Insurance men here are at a loss to account for the complete wiped out of the town, as reported, because they say, there is a very complete water supply and fire apparatus in the town. There is a good sized fire, adjoining Phillips, from which water mains extend throughout the entire village and a large pump was stationed at the mills of the Davis Co., which was capable of throwing enough water to flood the town on short notice. In addition, the town owns a large amount of hose and fire apparatus, and the only reason for the reported completeness of the fire, as considered by insurance men, is that the fire broke out in a bad locality and spread so rapidly that the people could do nothing with it. Leading insurance men estimate that the companies at the present time hold policies in the town of Phillips alone to the amount of about $250,000, which will, it is expected, prove nearly a total loss.

A Joint Debate.

Wm. G. Robinson, Independent, and Wm. J. Lewis, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Twelfth District, will have a joint debate at the Grant statue to-morrow at 4 p.m.

SADDLE AND SULKY

Clem Creveling's Success as a Racing Official.

HE STARTS AND JUDGES BOTH RUNNING AND TROTTING EVENTS.

His Campaign on the Trotting Circuits Commences at Terre Haute Next Month—Richard Croker's Betting Proposites—Little "Mic" to Umpire Today's Game—Barnie's Success in Strengthening the Louisville Team.

Clem Creveling, St. Louis' noted running and trotting horse starter and judge, returned to this city yesterday from Kansas City, where he presided in the stand at the recent Exposition Park running meeting. Mr. Creveling's next engagement commences Monday, Aug. 18, at Terre Haute, Ind., where he will officiate as starting judge at the big trotting meeting of the Vigo Agricultural Society. During the six days the Terre Haute meeting lasts $8,000 will be distributed among the winners of the different events. The features of the week will be a $20,000 futurity for 4-year-olds, a $14,000 stake for 3-year-olds and three $5,000 events for trotters. From Terre Haute Mr. Creveling expects to go to Chicago and of course will be judging at the big mid-summer Washington Park trotting meeting.

GOSSIP OF THE GAME.

"Little Mic" to Umpire To-day—Barnie's New Laurels.

Hugh Nicol will umpire this afternoon and to-morrow at Sportsman's Park and if his work is satisfactory, may be given a permanent appointment on the League staff. Both Republicans will defer the Abe and Manager battle telegraphed to Nick Young.

At night the Herrin was incompetent and as they jointly recommended "Little Mic," the latter was selected. Mr. Herrin's decision in the early part of yesterday's game was simply awful.

The Herrin's team was beaten by ten feet, yet it was called fair.

Hugh Nicol was declared out at second.

When Nicol dropped the ball, the third strike was called out, which hit on the foot and bounded against Grim's chest protector. Herrin had to leave the ring and the game was bailed out.

The Herrin's judgment on balls and strikes was abominable. Both teams got the worst of it.

It was impossible to tell his decisions, he was afraid.

The Herrin's team, however, won.

"Little Mic" is expected to show up well.

He is familiar with the rules and has the respect and confidence of the players.

Richard Croker has added himself to the list of New York players who are making the Western bookmakers so happy at the moment, says the WORLD. Last season Mr. Croker was rather a moderate bettor, but this summer he is spending a fortune sending $3,000 and $4,000 a day into the ring. If he continues to be as heavy it will not be long before he can repeat in the question of "Who will win?" by saying, "I haven't got it." Solomon was reported to be a wise man and a rich man, but if Solomon were to prove a poor and unprofitable bettor it would only be a question of time before he would be sending a fortune to the bookmakers.

"King Solomon" is the name of the abilities that Solomon would be found on a box in the ring laying the long-odds price against the New York players.

Mr. Croker and Mr. Dwyer occupy one of the four private boxes. Mr. Dwyer has been betting very heavily since his Waterloo at Brighton Beach.

James Casey, one of the summer Bush-rangers, has been ruled off the Brighton Beach track for running up Frank Beard's horse, at Anthony, because the Casey was last in the race.

Beard before the race of what he intended to do unless given $200, but refused to be blackmailed, and when the race was run, he was true to his threat, "hoisted" the horse a hundred and hundred.

Beard protected his property and then reported the matter to the track committee. The result was a fine victory for Casey. The latter is well known in local turf circles, having come West last winter to the track, and has been running on the local tracks until the Fair Grounds meeting closed. Then he returned East again and nothing was heard of him here until the summer came over the wires of his present trouble.

dealing instruments could afford to undertake. On this basis of calculation, therefore, Japan seems to have a hopeless task.

A JOURNAL friendly to Sir Fullam mentions that the Duke is urged to move his Chicago plant to Wilmington, Del., where workmen own their houses and where there has never been a riot. It will be a long time hence, however, when the Duke makes up his mind to employ men at his principal plant who will not pay him rent.

THOMAS REED is confronted with the fact that if the McKinley bill is to stand, the candidacy of McKinley in '96 will be more “logical” than ever. The Congressional jester may endeavor to conceal his gloomy forebodings by a new lot of jokes on the Democrats, but he will not be happy should the present session end with no tariff reform.

THE Republican and Populist combine in Illinois seems likely to fall to pieces.
All strange political bedfellows the Populist and the Republicans are the most incongruous. It is true they both have ideas of paternal government, but one wants it for the few, the other for the many. It is hard to see how they can restrain from kicking each other out of bed.

THE calm, dispassionate view of politics
taken by the Sugar Trust, which contributes to the campaign funds of both the Democratic and Republican parties, is in strong contrast with the enthusiastic excitement of lesser voters. No doubt when the Populists become stronger the trust will be as liberal with the Populist campaign funds as it has been with that of either of the old parties.

Rewards of Carelessness.
The poles for electric lights in the parks must be the ordinary unsightly logs which deface the public streets because the city cannot afford to put up any other kind,
say the authorities.

The constant wall about poverty which comes from the City Hall whenever a public improvement or a public need is beginning is given to the people of St. Louis “that tired feeling.” There is good cause for impatience and indignation over it.

The city was not too poor to give away
a street railroad franchise to prominent people who sold it for $50,000. It is never too poor to make rich presents of franchises.

The city is not too poor to increase its force of employees and increase the salaries of officials according to the wants of the political bosses and their hungry henchmen.

The present Congress is not the worst
one we have had, though a few Democrats have proved false to their platform and the Republicans have obstructed legislation.
There have been some very bad Congresses before. The one that fastened the Mc-Kinley bill on the country is regarded by many good judges as about as infamous a body as could well be got together. The Sugar Trust was vastly profited by this law and strengthened to make its fight in the present Congress.

A SUGGESTION to the G. O. P.: Helen Phlegar of Detroit
“Digs” tatters for the poor.
For he who does not abominate
The man who isn't sure
That he can help the poor,
dig, dig, hoe, sing, hoe and dig.
For Prodigy is the man!
He is a resident Of Washington, and President,
Is surely nature's plan.

The city is not so poor as to convince a school board it was improper to allow a lottery for $5,000 to the board's attorney for securing an additional tax.

The citizen of St. Louis—that is those not under the special care of political wings—pay the maximum of taxation allowed by law and get the minimum of results. Their indignation is well-founded, but they are not entitled to unqualified sympathy because they have brought it on themselves by neglect of public business.

The unsightly poles in a beautiful park
will at least be a constant reminder—a reminder re-enforced by an unsightly pile in Washington Square, by unmade streets and a host of undesirable sights—that they are reaping the reward of political carelessness.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
“We ought to have 1,000 patrolmen instead of 400,” said Chief of Police Lawrence Harrigan in a recent interview, and I believe every resident of the suburbs, i. e., “You can never find me in the suburbs,” will be in full agreement with him.

The failure to find a policeman at all
times required, in three cases out of five,
not because the officer is not on duty,
but because the great territory he is assigned
to patrol makes it impossible for him to render
a physical impossibility for him to render
a service to the public that necessarily requires
that he be on duty.

ST. LOUIS has never patrolmen considering the territory it covers, and I frequently hear the people say, “I almost every citizen has heard, or made use of, particularly the residents of the suburbs, i. e., “You can never find me in the suburbs.”

The failure to find a policeman at all
times required, in three cases out of five,
not because the officer is not on duty,
but because the great territory he is assigned
to patrol makes it impossible for him to render
a physical impossibility for him to render
a service to the public that necessarily requires
that he be on duty.

I have war and have never been in favor of a standing army, at least not in the sense of a large army, but in the sense of a small army
to protect the country, and to guarantee protection
to our families from the thief and the thief, who are always found in great numbers all over the world.

Public opinion has left no room on the police force in our beautiful city for police officers, and I believe the public will be the head of the offending citizen in order to make an arrest, or for the officer who (without warrant of course) has heard that it is his duty to arrest the citizen, who has committed a petty offense to make an arrest such as the part of the police have been trained to do.

Law Constable Oehler Defended Himself Against Constable Keller.

DRAGGED OUT A HANDFUL OF FLOWING WHISKERS.

Keller Was Brandishing a Walking-Stick
—An Amusing Encounter Between East St. Louis Officials This Morning—Each Will Present the Other—A Suspected Deserter Arrested in East St. Louis.

Harrison D. Keller and Morris Oehler, East Side constables, had an exciting encounter about 11 a. m. to-day near the corner of Missouri avenue and Eleventh street. A heavy walking-stick was brandished by Keller and Oehler made an unusual use of the weapons nature gave him by grasping Keller's flowing gray beard and tearing a wisp of hair from his chin. The combatants were separated before either was seriously injured. Constable Oehler retained possession of the wisp of hair torn from Constable Keller's beard and deposited it with Justice Barney Concanon, to whom he applied for a warrant against Keller. The encounter appears to have been the outcome of a recent controversy between the constables about money matters, their financial dealings seeming to have been mutually unsatisfactory. Keller was arrested and released on his own recognizance. He informed a reporter that he expected to proceed against Oehler.

WISCONSIN.—A young constable, Robert Murphy, of the A. O. U. W., addressed a union meeting of the local lodges last night. E. J. FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

The Arrest of Edward S. Warner, Real Estate Agent.

CHARGED WITH APPROPRIATING A DRAFT FOR $1,350.

George W. Heselton of Haines, the Principal Witness, Claims It Was Sons to Pay Interest on a Deed of Trust—The Property Sold—Warner Gives Bond and Says He Has Done Nothing Wrong.

Edward S. Warner, the well-known real estate agent, with an office in the Turner Building, was indicted yesterday by the Grand-jury on a charge of embezzling $1,350. He was arrested this morning and given bond. Witnesses against him were Geo. W. Heselton, a non-resident, F. B. Flitcraft and A. R. Fleming.

Mr. Rufus J. Delano, attorney for George W. Heselton and the company for which Mr. Heselton acts as agent, when asked yesterday concerning the offense with which Mr. Warner is charged, was reluctant to speak of it, but finally said:

"The offense consists in the embezzlement of a draft for $1,350. Mr. Warner was agent for Mr. Heselton's company here. Among other pieces of property the company owned what is known as the Collins property, located at Delmar and DeBaliviere avenues. Mr. Warner wrote to Mr. Heselton in January last and told him to send him money to pay the interest on a deed of trust held by Walter Pohlman."

"Heselton sent a draft for $1,350 and Warner acknowledged the receipt of it. A short time ago Heselton learned that the property was advertised for sale. Until that time he supposed that the interest on the deed of trust had been paid.

"Mr. Heselton, who resides at Gardner, Mo., came to St. Louis to see Mr. Warner. He asked him what he had done with the draft and Mr. Warner claimed that he had used it for the purpose for which it was sent to him. Heselton then got out his book and concluded not to pay the deed of trust, and the property was sold July 2. The money was paid to Mr. Heselton, who would give him no satisfaction. I do not want to appear in the light of a person who is a married man. John A. Smithers signed his bond."

ORANGES FOR INHERITANCE.

The Lucious Fruit Are Almost as Good as the Gold Cube.

From the Chicago Tribune.

It is now universally acknowledged by competent authorities that inebriety is a disease, physical as well as mental and moral, and to give the pledge of total abstinence to the inebriate drunkard without specific instructions what to do next and expect him to keep it is to look for the man of sound mental energy and strong will power. The man who is working on this project says that the first step in the progress of true temperance reform must be the recognition of the fact that the drunkard is a strong drinker, the effect of causes which must be got rid of before the drunkard can be regarded as a safe trustee of his money. The man who is working on this project can in no sense be regarded as a cure, for the only cure is in the real sense of the word "cure" in the man's body and his will strengthened. Diet is of extreme importance, and if skillfully directed will not only remove the disease without danger to the individual. All saluted and heavy food stuffs should be avoided. To cultivate a distaste for alcohol among the drunkard is the most difficult thing known. They should be taken, one at a time, before breakfast, at 11 a. m., at 1 p. m., at 5 p. m., and at 8 p. m., and nothing or retiring. Apple and lemon juice are also excellent.

PRISONERS

Who Communicated Their Thoughts by Whistling Popular Airs.

From the Chicago News.

When on Aug. 10, 1792, the Jacobins dictated their terms at Paris for a national convention, Lafayette, who was in command of the army of the frontier, and several of his general officers quitted the French Army in disgust. They were seized by the King of Prussia, from him transferred to the custody of Austria, and long confined in the castle of Olmutz, and, after a trial, condemned to death.

Although each of the prisoners was kept solitary, yet their apartments were so arranged that they could see each other, and each other when standing at the windows of their respective chambers. To improve this advantage they thought of the following plan:

"Let us make the entire army of the forces of the Pont Neuf, or those of popular ballsads that are sung at the corners of the streets of Paris, and let us sing them all together."

"We are the Jacobins," they sang, "and we are the people."

SUGAR SCHEDULE.

Discussion Over Increase of the Ad Valorem Duty.

THE TRUST TO BE DEPRIVED OF A LARGE AMOUNT OF PROTECTION.

Opinion of Congressman Warner, a High Sugar Expert—A Fair Valuation—Similar Sugars from Foreign Lands Subject to Larger Deductions—A Thousand and One Details.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 26.—Since the proposition was brought forward and practically agreed to by the Senate conference on Tuesday to make a concession to the House on the sugar schedule by striking out the 4 cent per pound differential duty and increasing the ad valorem duty from 40 to 45 per cent flat on all sugars, there has been much discussion of the proposed amendment. It has been stated in some quarters that the amendment would not only reduce protection, but would actually increase it, both in the factor of tariff protection and by reason of possible undervaluation of imported raw sugars.

LESS THAN PROTECTION.

The best authorities here, however, agree that the proposed change will deprive the trust of a very considerable amount of protection which it would receive under the Senate bill and the figures which are advanced in support of this statement seem to verify it beyond controversy.

Congressman John Dewitt Warner is probably the best authority in Washington on the subject of the sugar trade and the general technique of the refining business. It acts on the kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 30c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

A FAIR VALUATION.

"Anyone," said Mr. Warner, "who is familiar with Custom-house valuation, foreign cost (transportation, handling, brokerage charges, etc., being deducted), will admit that $2.75 is a fair Custom-house valuation for 96 deg. Cuban centrifugals, which are the best quality of raw sugars imported from Java, the Philippines, Hawaii, etc., though of the same value at New York, would be subject to larger deduction than the trust, and the valuation authorities at a much lower rate, so the estimate of $2.75 is a liberal one. While that of refined sugar is a fair average of recent quotations of refined sugars. An ad valorem duty will protect the trust by the difference between the cost of raw sugar and refined.

In this case, estimating the difference in price of raw sugar at 15 cents per pound, at 40 per cent ad valorem the protection would amount to 26 cents per 100 pounds.

The differential of 16 would add 12 cents per pound, so that the ad valorem protection under the present Senate bill of 88¢ cents per 100 pounds.

At the ad valorem rate of 40 per cent there would be an increase in protection over the 40 per cent rate amounting to 5 per cent on the difference between the cost of raw sugar and refined.

Incidental protection under the 45 per cent schedule just is of that afforded by a 40 per cent schedule, so that the protection under the present Senate bill of 88¢ cents per 100 pounds would be 19 1/2 cents less than the ad valorem bill provides.

Of course, it must be remembered that a thousand details enter into the computations, which can be procured in various quarters to show lower or higher prices for raw and refined sugars, but the figures I have given are about the average, and will be submitted to fair by all experienced judges."

Satolli and the Liquor Question.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 26.—Mr. Satolli has given practically no attention to matters that have arisen in connection with his attitude on the liquor question since the letter embracing his views was forwarded to Bishop Watterson of the diocese of Columbus. Rev. Watterson, the private secretary to the ablest man in the church, has been absent two weeks, but is expected to return within a month. As he is looked upon at the Archdiocese as the man who has given the worker his absence has caused more than the usual share of work to fall to the lot of Rev. Dr. Sybaricett, the auditor. For the greater part he has been absent from the office of Dr. Sybaricett, the city Dr. Sybaricett has been closeted with Mr. Satolli, attempting to dissuade him from attacking matters that have been given power to the archbishop by various members of the Catholic clergy in this country. Owing to the fact that the man who has been called at the ablegate's home have been unable to see him the committee has decided to advise him that he must be more than the door with the request to call at some other time, when Mr. Satolli will be at leisure. The hours between 10 and 12 in the afternoon have usually been reserved each day by the ablegate and his associates for rest, but now it is almost impossible to see him at any time during the day.

Strike Inquiry.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 26.—It is the present outlook that the resolution reported from the House Committee on Commerce for an investigation of the causes of the great railroad strike looking to legislation to prevent recurrence of such troubles will not result in any committee action, as the Senate Commerce Committee had the floor yesterday the resolution was not brought forward. The committee would have to adjourn to have a warm debate and block the way so that the other bills of the committee could not receive committee action.

Members of the committee do not expect to be able to get a day for the bill this session and the bill could secure more time would prefer to have it in the session after. Moreover, the interest in the strike has subsided very rapidly since their collapse and the committee for the investigation by Congress that there was more than President Cleveland appointed the commission.

A Serigraph Circular.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 26.—With each recurring session numerous inquiries are addressed to the Agricultural Department relating to the manufacture of sorghum syrup. In preference to answering such inquiries by ordinary circulars, the following circular is given in full on the subject. The circular says that the production of a syrup or molasses of a certain quality requires a considerable degree of skill. Experiments in the manufacture of a high-grade sorghum syrup have been made in the laboratory of the Bureau of Agriculture, and a method is described at length in the circular and has been adopted by the Bureau. The Bureau Superintendent of Prisons was ordered to go to Tracy City and take charge.
